Information

It is our desire that the Living in Hope conference will glorify God in at least two essential ways; first, in the preaching of the word, and second, in the time scheduled for social and sight seeing activities. We desire God's glory in our fellowship and in building new friendships based in Him. Since some of the activities will be outdoors, please pack comfortable shoes and clothes. Escondido is located in the north inland part of San Diego County. The weather in April can be very warm or hot during the days, yet chilly at night. Layered clothing works best. Light rain is a possibility.

The Best Western Hotel in Escondido is offering a special conference rate. Please contact Best Western at the number below by March 31, 2007 to reserve a room at the conference rate. Be sure to mention the Living in Hope Conference when you call.

Are you Living in Hope?

Or does that sound too iffy for you?

If you are reading this brochure you are probably single, and in the prime of your life. You are starting to think about those retirement years, even though they may be several years away. Unique ministry opportunities lay ahead.

Maybe you had hoped to be married by this time in your life. You may have hoped that your life had been very different than it was. But as a Christian, you know God has preordained every turn your life has taken to this point. You also know that God's purposes are always good. And you trust Him in that.

But hope? Does that word cause the secret corners of your heart to say that the day of your life is too close to sunset to still be living in hope?

Living in hope is a conference about biblical living for Christian singles 40 years and older.

Come to this conference and celebrate the God of our hope.

Key Note Speaker

John Sale served as pastor for 22 years in Chicago's suburbia before becoming pastor at Valley Center Community Church in CA. The driving motivation in John's ministry has been what he calls "the grace and glory of God." It is the grace of God lavished upon his people, which provides access into the presence of Almighty God. It is this same grace that opens up to us the privilege to worship God, the One who has indescribable glory, whose name is holy and inhabits eternity (Isaiah 57:15). He is blessed with a wife, Linda, two married children, and one granddaughter.

Other Speakers

He has authored The Message of Acts in the History of Redemption, notes on Hebrews in the Reformation Study Bible, Triumph of the Lamb: A Commentary on Revelation, and Let's Study Acts. He and his wife Jane have been married 36 years. They have four married children, and expect the birth of their twelfth grandchild in April 2007.
